

Clay Davis

📍 1808 Chicago Avenue; Evanston, IL 60201
 📩 cdavis@u.northwestern.edu 🌐 claydav.is

Education

expected	Ph.D. in Sociology	Northwestern University
June 2026	Dissertation title: “P-value politics: how hospitals, courts, and global health NGOs subdue uncertainty” Committee: Steven Epstein (chair), Wendy Espeland, Carol Heimer	Evanston, Illinois
2018	B.S. in Biology and Society Honors thesis committee: Michael Lynch (chair), Christopher Roebuck, Suman Seth cum laude with distinction in research	Cornell University Ithaca, New York

Peer-reviewed Publications

2023	Davis, Clay. “The routinization of lay expertise: A diachronic account of the invention and stabilization of an open-source artificial pancreas.” Social Studies of Science . 54, 4: 626–652. *Winner of the ASA Section on Knowledge and Technology Hacker-Mullins Graduate Student Paper Award *Winner of the Robert F. Winch Award for Outstanding Graduate Student Published Paper
2022	Heimer, Carol, and Clay Davis . “Good law to fight bad bugs: Legal responses to epidemics.” Annual Review of Law and Social Science . 18: 1–26.
2020	Davis, Clay. “ Homo adhaerens : Risk and adherence in biomedical HIV prevention research.” Social Studies of Science . 50, 6: 860–880.

Book Chapters

Forthcoming	Davis, Clay. “The knowledge politics of evidence-based global health: knowledge brokers, meta-analysis, and ‘mass deworming’ beyond the World Health Organization.” In Handbook on Knowledge Politics , edited by Daniel Barben, Anja Bauer, and Erik Aarden. Edward Elgar.
-------------	---

Manuscripts Under Review

Minor revision	Davis, Clay. “The moral affordances of evidence-based medicine: How surgeons use clinical practice guidelines to curb their interventionism.” Sociology of Health and Illness .
----------------	---

Essays

2020	Davis, Clay. “Beyond investment in research: What COVID-19 policymakers can learn from the HIV/AIDS epidemic.” NULR Of Note .
------	--

Invited Talks

2024	“The routinization of lay expertise: A diachronic account of the invention and stabilization of an open-source artificial pancreas” Experiential knowledge in the making: Lessons and perspectives from the DIY-AIDS movement Department of Philosophy, Université de Montréal	Montréal, Québec; Canada
------	--	-----------------------------

2024	“The life cycles of health social movements: How a group of patients with type 1 diabetes routinized their lay expertise” Colloquium, Northwestern University Department of Sociology	Evanston, Illinois
------	---	--------------------

Conference Presentations

2025	“Too close for credibility: how the epistemology of meta-analysis challenges US federal courts” Society for Social Studies of Science Annual Meeting	Seattle, Washington
2025	“Knowledge brokers in the gaps of deglobalization: The P-value politics of global health beyond the World Health Organization” Annual Meeting of the American Sociological Association	Chicago, Illinois
2025	“Platinum standard or partisan ploy? A mixed-methods study of how actors in the US federal district courts construct, codify, and contest the epistemic authority of meta-analysis” Law and Society Association Annual Meeting	Chicago, Illinois
2024	“Evidence-based medicine as a moral and organizational tool for surgeons” Annual Meeting of the American Sociological Association	Montréal, Québec; Canada
2023	“Meta-analysis as a tool for the global circulation of uncertainty and expertise” Society for Social Studies of Science Annual Meeting	Honolulu, Hawaii
2023	“Unequal access to PrEP in rural U.S. counties: Focus on health infrastructure and population characteristics” Interdisciplinary Association for Population Health Science Conference	Baltimore, Maryland
2022	“Making expertise legitimate: ‘Biohackers’ as a morally ambiguous case for analyzing battles over expert authority” Society for Social Studies of Science Annual Meeting	Cholula, Puebla; Mexico
2020	“Lay expertise in ‘knowledge commons’: How the open-source artificial pancreas community innovates ‘outside of’ IP law and regulation” Law and Society Association Annual Meeting	Chicago, Illinois
2020	“Patient-led research: Is the open-source artificial pancreas project a new paradigm?” Comparative and Historical Social Science Workshop	Evanston, Illinois
2020	“Solving the problem of regulatory stagnation: the open-source artificial pancreas as a model for patient-led innovation” Problem Solving Sociology Workshop	Evanston, Illinois
2019	“Participant subjectivity, adherence, and risk in biomedical HIV prevention research” Society for Social Studies of Science Annual Meeting	New Orleans, Louisiana

Grants & Fellowships

2025	Dissertation Fellowship Buffett Institute for Global Affairs, Northwestern University
------	---

2023	Doctoral Dissertation Research Improvement Grant National Science Foundation	$25,000
2023	Anonymous Midwest University Bioethics Institute (with Wayne Rivera)	$10,000
2020	Graduate Fellowship in Legal Studies Center for Legal Studies, Northwestern University
2020	MacArthur Summer Research Grant Department of Sociology, Northwestern University	$1,000
2020	Second-year Paper Alumni Fund Grant Department of Sociology, Northwestern University	$400
2019	Mellon Cluster Fellowship in Science Studies Science in Human Culture Program, Northwestern University	$2,500
2017	Emily Murray Student Fellowship Award The Hastings Center	$375

Awards

2025	Outstanding Graduate Student Teacher Award Weinberg College of Arts and Science, Northwestern University
2024	Hacker-Mullins Graduate Student Paper Award Section on Knowledge and Technology, American Sociological Association
2024	Robert F. Winch Award for Outstanding Graduate Student Instructor Department of Sociology, Northwestern University
2024	Robert F. Winch Award for Outstanding Graduate Student Published Paper Department of Sociology, Northwestern University
2023	Robert F. Winch Award for Outstanding Teaching Assistant Department of Sociology, Northwestern University

Teaching Experience

W '23, S '25	Science in crisis? Instructor of record	Northwestern University
F '21, W '22, F '22, W '25	Sociological Theory Co-instructor with Wendy Espeland	Northwestern University
F '24	Health, Biomedicine, Culture and Society Teaching assistant for Santiago Molina	Northwestern University
S '21	Medical Sociology Teaching assistant for Carol Heimer	Northwestern University
W '21	Sexuality, Technoscience, and the Law Teaching assistant for Renee Shelby	Northwestern University
F '20	Numbers, Identity, and Modernity Co-instructor with Wendy Espeland	Northwestern University

Professional Service

2023–present	Chronic Illness Alliance Advisor
2020–2021	Doctoral Colloquium, Science in Human Culture Program Coordinator
2020–2021	Graduates Mentoring Undergraduates Graduate Mentor
2020–2021	Graduate Student Association Fellowships and Grants Volunteer

References

Steven Epstein	s-epstein@northwestern.edu
Professor of Sociology and John C. Shaffer Professor in the Humanities
Wendy Espeland	wne741@northwestern.edu
Professor of Sociology
Carol Heimer	c-heimer@northwestern.edu
Professor of Sociology Emerita
Ken Alder	k-alder@northwestern.edu
Milton H. Wilson Professor in the Humanities
Michael Lynch	mel27@cornell.edu
Professor of Science & Technology Studies Emeritus	